

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

ALLANNA WARREN,

Plaintiff,
vs.

SPARKS POLICE DEPARTMENT, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No.: 2:23-cv-00065-GMN-DJA

AMENDED¹ ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO DISMISS

Pending before the Court is the Motion to Dismiss, (ECF No. 234), filed by Defendant Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (“LVMPD”). Plaintiff Allanna Warren did not file a response and the deadline to do so has passed. Also pending before the Court are Plaintiff’s First Motion for Permanent Injunction, (ECF No. 248), and Third Motion for Permanent Injunction, (ECF No. 312). LVMPD filed Responses, (ECF Nos. 254, 317). For the reasons discussed below, the Court GRANTS LVMPD’s Motion to Dismiss, and DENIES as moot Plaintiff’s Second and Third Motions for Permanent Injunction.

I. BACKGROUND

Plaintiff brings this action against LVMPD and 28 others² asserting various federal and state law claims, alleging that LVMPD is improperly surveilling and stalking her. (See generally First Am. Compl.³ (“FAC”), ECF No. 1-1). At the time the lawsuit was filed, Plaintiff was a forty-four-year-old African American woman, who suffers from asthma, ¹ This Amended Order merely corrects a typographical error in the Conclusion where Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 234, was incorrectly identified as ECF No. 284. The correct number for the Motion to Dismiss is ECF No. 234.

² The case was originally brought against 29 LVMPDs. As of the date of this Order, four of the original defendants have been terminated.

³ The operative complaint is the First Amended Complaint that was filed in the state court proceedings before this case was removed to federal court which was attached to the Petition for Removal, (ECF No. 1).

1 alopecia, depression, anxiety, post-traumatic stress disorder (“PTSD”), paranoia, and 2 hidradenitis suppurativa. (Id. ¶¶ 14–15). The alleged facts relevant to Plaintiff’s claims begin
3 when Plaintiff moved from Reno to Las Vegas. (Id. ¶¶ 17–18).

4 Plaintiff asserts U-Haul lost her property while moving. (FAC 9:28–10:1). Plaintiff
5 avers a U-Haul employee stated the lost property was confiscated by “local employees in both 6 cities [who] were actively working with the police in each city[.]” (Id. 10:1–5). Plaintiff
7 contends the unnamed U-Haul employee’s statement shows the Sparks Police Department and 8 LVMPD “collude[ed]” to “know[ingly] interfere[]” with her property.” (Id. ¶ 349(b)). Despite 9 LVMPD’s alleged wrongful confiscation of her property, Plaintiff states U-Haul paid her a 10 $5,000 settlement after “her late-delivered property was finally recovered.” (Id. 10:4–7).

11 Upon moving to Las Vegas, Plaintiff obtained employment. (Id. 8:22–24). While at 12 work, Plaintiff’s co-workers allegedly teased her by showing her a copy of her booking photo
13 taken by the Washoe County Jail and the Sparks Police Department when Plaintiff was 14 previously arrested. (Id. 8:22–9:9). The co-workers’ teasing was partially directed at Plaintiff’s
15 baldness in the photo, caused by her alopecia. (Id.). Plaintiff maintains her booking photo
16 cannot be found online, (Id. 9:10), but simultaneously acknowledges the County of Washoe’s
17 Sheriff’s Office stated her booking photo is a public record which could have been accessed on 18 the County of Washoe’s Sheriff’s Office website until her term of incarceration ended. (Id. 9:9– 19 16).

20 According to Plaintiff, the County of Washoe’s Sheriff’s Office stated that because her 21 period of incarceration ended, the only way her booking photo could be released would be 22 either at Plaintiff’s own request or in response to a request from the City of Sparks “and/or 23 Sparks Police Department.” (Id. 8:13–16). Plaintiff asserts it is “possible that 24 [LVMPD] . . . additionally had a hand in the booking photo getting released to [Plaintiff’s] new 25 employer[.]” (Id. 9:22–24).

1 Plaintiff generally asserts LVMPD improperly surveils her apartment by sending 2 officers to knock on her door, and has officers follow her whenever she leaves her apartment.
3 (Id. 9:14–10:7). Specifically, Plaintiff contends LVMPD sent officers to her apartment on at 4 least two occasions at the behest of her neighbors. (Id. 10:21–11:28). Plaintiff, based on 5 LVMPD’s response to these calls, “believes there is cooperation between SPARKS POLICE 6 DEPARTMENT and [LVMPD.]” (Id. 12:17–18).

7 Plaintiff further alleges LVMPD intercepts and improperly surveils her internet. She 8 asserts that since February 2022, she “has not been charged anything for internet connection.”
9 (Id. 10:25–28). Plaintiff avers she called T-Mobile regarding this discrepancy and was told by 10 an unnamed T-Mobile employee that her internet “was paid by a police account” before “the 11 line went dead.” (Id. 11:3–10).

12 The Court incorporates the procedural history of this case from LVMPD’s Motion to 13 Dismiss. (Mot. Dismiss (“MTD”) 6:6–7:18, ECF No. 284). Plaintiff’s First Amended
14 Complaint asserts claims against LVMPD for: (1) Unlawful Injury or Loss Suffered by a 15 Vulnerable Person, NRS § 41.1395; (2) Public Disclosure of a Private Fact; (3) Negligence and 16 Gross Negligence; (4) Defamation; (5) Public Records Violations, NRS 239 et seq.; (6)
17 Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress; (7) Civil Conspiracy; (8) Unlawful Discrimination, 18 Harassment, and Retaliation Based on Disability Americans with Disabilities Act and 19 Amendments Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12131 et seq. and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 20 29 U.S.C. § 794; (9) Violation of Plaintiff’s Fourth Amendment Rights—Unlawful Search and 21 Seizure; (10) Violation of Plaintiff’s Fourteenth Amendment Rights—Substantive and 22 Procedural Due Process; (11) Violation of Plaintiff’s Fourteenth Amendment Rights—Equal
23 Protection; (12) 42 U.S.C. § 1981 Impairment of Plaintiff’s Equal Rights Under Color of State
24 Law—Protection From Discrimination on the Basis of Race; and (13) 18 U.S.C. §§ 2510-2523
25 Violations of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986. (See generally FAC).

1 II. LEGAL STANDARD

2 Dismissal is appropriate under Rule 12(b)(6) where a pleader fails to state a claim upon
3 which relief can be granted. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure (“Fed. R. Civ. P.”) 12(b)(6); Bell
4 Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). A pleading must give fair notice of a legally
5 cognizable claim and the grounds on which it rests, and although a court must take all factual
6 allegations as true, legal conclusions couched as factual allegations are insufficient. Twombly,
7 550 U.S. at 555. Accordingly, Rule 12(b)(6) requires “more than labels and conclusions, and a
8 formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.” Id. “To survive a motion 9 to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim
10 to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting 11 Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570). “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual 12 content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the 13 misconduct alleged.” Id. This standard “asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant 14 has acted unlawfully.” Id.

15 If the court grants a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, leave to amend should 16 be granted unless it is clear that the deficiencies of the complaint cannot be cured by 17 amendment. DeSoto v. Yellow Freight Sys., Inc., 957 F.2d 655, 658 (9th Cir. 1992). Pursuant 18 to Rule 15(a), the court should “freely” give leave to amend “when justice so requires,” and in 19 the absence of a reason such as “undue delay, bad faith or dilatory motive on the part of the 20 movant, repeated failure to cure deficiencies by amendments previously allowed undue 21 prejudice to the opposing party by virtue of allowance of the amendment, futility of the 22 amendment, etc.” Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182 (1962).

III. DISCUSSION

LVMPD now moves to dismiss all of Plaintiff's federal and state-based causes of action. Plaintiff did not respond to LVMPD's Motion despite receiving the Klingele v. Eikenberry and Rand v. Rowland Minute Order, (ECF No. 236), informing her of her responsibility to do so. 849 F.2d 409 (9th Cir. 1988); 154 F.3d 952 (9th Cir. 1998). "On its own, Plaintiff's failure to file points and authorities in opposition to a motion constitutes consent that the motion be granted." Gonzalez v. Bank of America, N.A., No. 2:13-cv-00460, 2013 WL 3877708, at *2 (D. Nev. July 24, 2013) (citing Local Rule 7-2(d)). Notwithstanding Plaintiff's failure to oppose the Motion, the Court addresses the merits of LVMPD's Motion as it relates to Plaintiff's federal causes of action.⁴

Here, the Court dismisses Plaintiff's federal claims against LVMPD for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. The Court begins with Plaintiff's claim under the Americans with Disabilities Act and Rehabilitation Act.

A. Americans With Disabilities Act (“ADA”)/Rehabilitation Act (“RA”)

Plaintiff brings claims against LVMPD under the ADA and RA. LVMPD argues Plaintiff has failed to “properly plead her ADA and RA claim[s] because “she failed to sufficiently plead that LVMPD was aware of her disability at the time of the alleged discrimination.” (MTD 18:14–16). The Court addresses Plaintiff’s ADA and RA claim together because LVMPD raises the same arguments for both and both “statutes provide ⁴ The Court evaluates only Plaintiff’s federal claims because they serve as the basis for this Court’s jurisdiction. (Pet. Removal, ECF No. 1). The Court will provide Plaintiff an opportunity to amend some of her federal claims because it is not clear that amendment is futile. If Plaintiff is unable to cure the deficiencies identified in this Order, the Court will decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over her remaining state law claims. See Carnegie-Mellon Univ. v. Cohill, 484 U.S. 343, 357 (1988) (“We conclude that a district court has discretion to remand to state court a removed case involving pendent claims upon a proper determination that retaining jurisdiction over the case would be inappropriate.”).

1 identical ‘remedies, procedures and rights.’” Vos v. Newport Beach, 892 F.3d 1024, 1036 (9th
2 Cir. 2018).

3 Title II of the ADA provides that “no qualified individual with a disability shall, by 4 reason of such disability, be excluded from participation in or be denied the benefits of the 5 services, programs, or activities of a public entity, or be subject to discrimination by such 6 entity.” 42 U.S.C. § 12132. To prove that a public program or service violates Title II of the 7 ADA, a plaintiff must show: (1) she is a “qualified individual with a disability,” (2) she “was 8 either excluded from participation in or denied the benefits of a public entity’s services,
9 programs, or activities, or was otherwise discriminated against by the public entity,” and (3)
10 “such exclusion, denial of benefits or discrimination was by reason of [her] disability.” See 42
11 U.S.C. § 12132; Weinreich v. L.A. County Metro. Transp. Auth., 114 F.3d 976, 978 (9th Cir.
12 1997).

13 Plaintiff’s FAC fails to allege facts that satisfy each requirement under Title II of the 14 ADA. The Court begins by examining whether Plaintiff adequately alleged she is a qualified 15 individual with a disability.

16 a. Qualified Disability Under the ADA

17 To establish a cognizable ADA/RA claim, Plaintiff must plead that she has a “physical 18 or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more . . . major life activities,” 42 U.S.C.
19 § 12102(1)(A). “[M]ajor life activities include . . . caring for oneself, performing manual tasks,
20 seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, 21 reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.” 42 U.S.C. § 12102(2)(A).
22 Under Twombly, a plaintiff cannot rely on a threadbare recitation of the elements to adequately 23 plead her claim. 550 U.S. at 555. Thus, Plaintiff is required to provide factual information in 24 support of her assertion that her disabilities limit a major life activity.

1 Plaintiff alleges she suffers from asthma, alopecia,⁵ depression, anxiety, PTSD,
 2 paranoia, and hidradenitis suppurativa. (FAC ¶ 15). Plaintiff generally avers her conditions
 3 “limit one or more of her major life activities,” (id. ¶ 410), but does not identify with specificity
 4 what activities are limited by her mental health conditions. Plaintiff’s statement is inadequate
 5 to meet the Rule 8(a) standard because it merely states a necessary element of the claim.
 6 Although “[t]he definition of disability . . . shall be construed in favor of broad coverage of 7 individuals . . . to the maximum extent permitted by the terms of [this chapter, 42 U.S.C. §
 8 12102(4)(A)],” Plaintiff must still allege plausible allegations showing how her disabilities
 9 limit one of more major life activities. Shields v. Credit One Bank, N.A., 32 F.4th 1218, 1223
 10 (9th Cir. 2022) (emphasis added). Instead, Plaintiff merely states legal conclusions and recites
 11 necessary elements in an attempt to satisfy this prerequisite. Thus, Plaintiff has not sufficiently 12 pled facts that support a reasonable inference of culpability as to this element.

13 The Court would typically stop its analysis of a claim here because Plaintiff failed to 14 establish a necessary element to support a claim under the ADA/RA. However, given 15 Plaintiff’s pro se status, the Court finds it appropriate to explain to Plaintiff the deficiencies of 16 her FAC regarding the remaining ADA/RA elements so that she may have a chance to correct 17 them.

18 b. Discriminated against by the public entity

19 Plaintiff must plead that she “was either excluded from participation in or denied the 20 benefits of a public entity’s services, programs, or activities, or was otherwise discriminated 21 against by the public entity.” Here, Plaintiff alleges that LVMPD “profile[s]” and “prey[s]
 22 upon Plaintiff as a disabled American” through its alleged surveillance and harassment of

23
 25 ⁵ LVMPD argues that alopecia is not a “disability” under the ADA. (MTD 18:8–9). The Court need not determine whether alopecia is a disability at this stage in the proceedings because Plaintiff has failed to plead how any of her alleged disabilities limit a major life activity or how LVMPD’s alleged actions were by reason of her alleged disabilities.

1 Plaintiff. (FAC ¶ 525). Thus, Plaintiff has plead sufficient factual matter as to this element to 2 state a claim for relief that is plausible on its face.

3 c. Discrimination by reason of disability

4 As to the third element, Plaintiff has not alleged how LVMPD's purported actions were 5 by reason of her disabilities. Plaintiff does not allege that LVMPD and its officers were even 6 on notice of her disabilities. Thus, Plaintiff's FAC lacks factual allegations that would support 7 a reasonable inference of culpability as to this element.

8 In sum, additional allegations are needed for Plaintiff to set forth a cognizable ADA/RA 9 claim. Accordingly, the Court will DISMISS Plaintiff's ADA and RA claims with leave to 10 amend on this basis.

11 B. Electronic Communications Privacy Act ("ECPA")

12 Plaintiff next asserts a cause of action against LVMPD under the ECPA. Plaintiff
13 avers her "internet connection has been intercepted by, on information and belief, [LVMPD]."
14 (FAC 10:25–28). Plaintiff's contention is premised on the fact that her internet has not been 15 disconnected despite her not paying her provider, T-Mobile, since February 2022. (Id. 10:27– 16 28). Plaintiff asserts that when she called T-Mobile, she was told by an unnamed T-Mobile 17 employee that her internet "was paid by a police account" before the "line went dead." (Id.
18 11:4–7).

19 The ECPA provides that "any person whose wire, oral, or electronic communication is 20 intercepted, disclosed, or intentionally used in violation of this chapter may in a civil action 21 recover from the person or entity which engaged in that violation such relief as may be 22 appropriate." 18 U.S.C. § 2520. The ECPA prohibits the intentional interception of wire
23 communications. See 18 U.S.C. § 2511(1)(a). It provides: "Any person who intentionally 24 intercepts, endeavors to intercept, or procures any other person to intercept or endeavor to 25 intercept, any wire, oral, or electronic communication . . . shall be subject to suit . . ." Id.; see

1 Forsyth v. Barr, 19 F.3d 1527 (5th Cir.1994); DirecTV, Inc. v. Pahnke, 405 F. Supp. 2d 1182,
 2 1189 (E.D. Cal. 2005).

3 The Court recognizes Plaintiff's frustration, but her allegations and personal beliefs are 4 unsupported by facts that make an inference of culpability plausible. "Determining whether a 5 complaint states a plausible claim for relief will. . . be a context-specific task that requires the 6 reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense." Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 7 679. Common sense requires the Court to reject the allegation that LVMPD is exhausting its 8 own time and resources to monitor Plaintiff's internet traffic, all while paying the bill.
 9 Considering the inherent implausibility of the allegations, Plaintiff's attempt to hold LVMPD
 10 liable under the ECPA does not satisfy the pleading standards of Rule 8, as described 11 in Iqbal and Twombly. See Blantz v. Cal. Dep't of Corr. & Rehab., 727 F.3d 917, 927 (9th Cir.
 12 2013). Plaintiff has not plausibly stated a claim for violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2511.
 13 Accordingly, this claim is DISMISSED with prejudice due to its inherent implausibility.

14 C. Section 1981

15 Plaintiff further argues that LVMPD wrongfully detained, falsely imprisoned, and 16 kidnapped her because of their discriminatory animus toward African-Americans in violation of 17 42 U.S.C. § 1981. (FAC ¶¶ 668–670).

18 Section 1981 prohibits racial discrimination through state or private action and requires 19 a showing of intentional discrimination on account of race. Evans v. McKay, 869 F.2d 1341, 20 1344 (9th Cir. 1989). It provides that "[a]ll persons . . . shall have the same right . . . to make 21 and enforce contracts, to sue, be parties, given evidence, and to the full and equal benefit of all 22 laws and proceedings for the security of persons as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be 23 subject to like punishment, pains, penalties, taxes, licenses and exactions." 42 U.S.C. § 1981(a).

24 LVMPD argues the viability of Plaintiff's Section 1981 claim ends with her inability to 25 plead an impairment to her right to contract. (MTD 18:20–19:5). The Court agrees with

1 LVMPD that Plaintiff's FAC fails to allege how it interfered with her right to "make and 2 enforce contracts." 42 U.S.C. § 1981. Accordingly, Plaintiff's Section 1981 claim is dismissed
3 to the extent it is predicated on the existence of a contract between her and LVMPD. See
4 Castenada v. City of Napa, 1996 WL 241818, at *2 (N.D. Cal. 1998) (dismissing Section 1981
5 claims against police officers because the plaintiff failed to allege the existence of any contract 6 with the officers).

7 Nevertheless, while neither the Ninth Circuit nor the Supreme Court have considered the 8 meaning of the "equal benefit" and "like punishment" clauses of Section 1981, other courts of 9 appeals and district courts in this circuit have found that these clauses protect individuals
10 against racial discrimination by police officers. See Mahone v. Waddle, 544 F.2d 1018, 1028
11 (3d Cir. 1977); Alexis v. McDonald's Rests. Of Mass., Inc., 67 F.3d 341, 348 (1st Cir. 1995);
12 see also Singh v. Bunch, No. 1:15-cv-00646, 2017 WL 117857, *6 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 11, 2017)
13 (concluding that the plaintiffs' allegations of defendant's racial discrimination in their law
14 enforcement activities fall within the equal benefit and like punishment clauses of Section 15 1981) (listing cases that have recognized the same right). Accordingly, it is unclear whether a 16 Section 1981 claim never applies to situations of racially motivated physical abuse and misuse
17 of governmental power under the "equal benefits" and "like punishment" clauses of the statute.
18 See Banks v. Berge, No. 3:16-cv-02129, 2019 WL 1270925, at *6, *7 (D. Or. Mar. 18, 2019)
19 (internal citations omitted) (explaining that the Ninth Circuit and Supreme Court have not 20 answered this question but all courts of appeals which have considered it have held that 21 "misuse of governmental power motivated by racial animus comes squarely within the 'equal 22 benefit' and 'like punishment' clauses" of Section 1981).

23 But even assuming Section 1981's viability, Plaintiff's FAC does not adequately allege
24 LVMPD's actions were motivated by Plaintiff's race. Plaintiff summarily alleges that LVMPD 25 and its officers' actions were motivated by race, often based on her own "information and

1 belief,” without additional factual support to make an inference of culpability plausible. See In 2 re Cutera Sec. Litig., 610 F.3d 1103, 1108 (9th Cir. 2010) (“[A]llegations that are merely 3 conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable inferences” are not entitled to the 4 assumption of truth, and “are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss for failure to state a
5 claim.”) (internal citation omitted). Accordingly, the Court will DISMISS Plaintiff’s Section 6 1981 claim with leave to amend to plead with more particularity the facts that establish 7 LVMPD’s alleged violation of Section 1981.

8 D. Constitutional Claims

9 Plaintiff next alleges LVMPD violated her rights under the Equal Protection
10 Clause and Due Process Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment through its conspiracy to 11 surveil, monitor, and harass her. (FAC ¶¶ 531–546; 596–616; 641–652). Plaintiff also alleges a
12 Fourth Amendment violation against LVMPD for illegal search and seizure when LVMPD
13 allegedly interfered with the transportation of her U-Haul shipment, released her booking photo 14 to her new employer, and otherwise surveilled and harassed her. (Id. ¶¶ 531–546). These 15 claims are premised on the same conclusory facts already examined by the Court in Plaintiff’s
16 previous claims. For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiff’s FAC lacks factual allegations
17 which support a reasonable inference of culpability. Accordingly, the Court will DISMISS 18 these claims with leave to amend.

19 E. Monell Claim

20 Plaintiff’s final claim is for Monell liability against LVMPD. “To bring a Monell 21 claim, a plaintiff must first prove an underlying constitutional violation.” Khalif v. City of 22 Belvedere, No. 4:22-cv-04097, 2023 WL 4143266, at *3 (N.D. Cal. May 31, 2023) (citing 23 Dougherty v. City of Covina, 654 F.3d 892, 900 (9th Cir. 2011); see also Benas v. Baca, 159 F.
24 App’x 762, 768 (9th Cir. 2005) (“[A]s the district court correctly concluded, [Monell] liability
25 may not be imposed absent an underlying violation of the plaintiff’s rights that is related to an

1 official policy or custom in question.”). For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiff has failed to
 2 allege an underlying constitutional violation. Accordingly, the Court will DISMISS this claim 3 with leave to amend.

4 F. Leave to Amend

5 Plaintiff did not request leave to amend her FAC. However, “a district court should 6 grant leave to amend even if no request to amend the pleading was made, unless it determines 7 that the pleading could not possibly be cured by the allegation of other facts.” Doe v. United 8 States, 58 F.3d 494, 497 (9th Cir. 1995). Because it is not clear Plaintiff’s federal claims under 9 the ADA/RA, Section 1981, the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendment, and Monell cannot be 10 cured by the allegation of other facts, Plaintiff shall be granted one opportunity to file an 11 amended complaint to cure the deficiencies discussed above. The Court finds giving Plaintiff
 12 leave to amend particularly appropriate because Plaintiff has not filed an operative amended
 13 complaint while the case has been before the federal court.⁶ Plaintiff is advised that to state a 14 claim that is plausible on its face, she must allege facts that “allow[] the court to draw the 15 reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 16 678. Plaintiff may not amend her ECPA claim because it is dismissed with prejudice.

17 IV. CONCLUSION

18 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that LVMPD’s Motion to Dismiss, (ECF No. 234), is 19 GRANTED. Plaintiff shall have twenty-one (21) days of the date of this Order to file an 20 amended complaint. Any amended complaint should remedy the deficiencies identified in this 21 Order. Failure to file an amended complaint by this date shall result in the Court dismissing
 22 Plaintiff’s federal claims with prejudice and declining to exercise jurisdiction over her state law
 23 claims. The amended complaint should be titled the Second Amended Complaint. Motions
 24

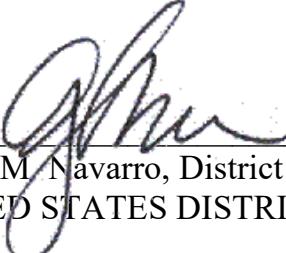

25 ⁶ Plaintiff attempted to file a Second Amended Complaint without the proper authorization of this Court, and it was stricken from the docket. (See Oct. 12, 2023, Order, ECF No. 145).

1 requesting an extension to file the Second Amended Complaint will not be granted given that
2 (a) Plaintiff repeatedly requests the Court to expedite the case and (b) the Court gave Plaintiff
3 an opportunity to file an amended complaint after she failed to respond the Motion to Dismiss.

4 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motions for Permanent Injunction, (ECF
5 Nos. 248, 312), are DENIED AS MOOT.

6 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this Court's previous Order, (ECF No. 329), is 7 stricken from the docket.

8 DATED this 21 day of November, 2024.
